

Asian Development Bank & Switzerland

FACT SHEET

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) is dedicated to reducing poverty in the Asia and Pacific region through pro-poor sustainable economic growth, social development, and good governance. Established in 1966, it is owned by 67 member nations—48 from the region—who have committed $155.94 billion to the vision of a region free of poverty.

Despite the region's many successes, it remains home to two thirds of the world's poor: 1.8 billion people who live on less than $2 a day, with 903 million struggling on less than $1.25 a day.

Switzerland is the 23rd largest shareholder and has contributed $319.62 million in capital subscription as of 31 December 2008. As of 31 December 2009, it has contributed $512.04 million to special funds since joining in 1967.

Swiss companies and consultants have been awarded $757.50 million in procurement contracts (based on nationality of contractor) on ADB-financed projects since 1967.

In 2009, lending volume was $13.23 billion (93 projects), with technical assistance at $267.2 million (313 projects) and grant-financed projects at $1.11 billion (64 projects). In addition, $3.16 billion in direct value-added loan cofinancing was generated.

Over the last 5 years (2005–2009), ADB's annual lending volume averaged $9.18 billion, with technical assistance averaging $245.7 million and grant-financed projects $855.4 million.

As of 31 December 2009, the cumulative totals were $155.94 billion in loans for 2,206 projects in 41 countries, $5.19 billion for 315 grant projects, and $3.81 billion for 6,863 technical assistance projects.

In addition to loans, grants, and technical assistance, ADB uses guarantees and equity investments to help its developing member countries.

With headquarters in Manila, ADB has 27 offices around the world with 2,600 staff from 58 members as of 31 December 2009.

Shareholding and Voting Power

Switzerland is the eighth largest shareholder in ADB among its nonregional members. Overall, Switzerland is the 23rd largest shareholder.

Figures are as of 31 December 2008, before the fifth general capital increase process began. The process is ongoing, and the final figures are expected to be available by 31 December 2010. Current subscription levels are available from the Office of the Secretary.

Cofinancing

ADB arranges cofinancing from bilateral, multilateral, export credit agencies, and commercial sources, in the form of grants for technical assistance and components of investment projects, loans, and syndications. Cofinancing brings additional resources to ADB's project financing. In 2009, total direct value-added (DVA) cofinancing amounted to $3.38 billion for 121 projects, of which $3.32 billion was for 35 investment projects and $64.1 million was for 86 technical assistance projects. Cumulative DVA cofinancing for the period 1970–2009 amounted to $15.6 billion for 1,276 projects, of which $14.7 billion was for 306 investment projects and $835.1 million was for 970 technical assistance projects.

Cofinancing with Switzerland from 1 January 2005 to 31 December 2009 comprised the following:

Investment Projects:	3 projects, cofinancing of $14.50 million
Grants:	3 projects, cofinancing of $14.50 million
Technical Assistance:	4 projects, cofinancing of $0.91 million

Trust Fund Agreements

Trust funds are key instruments to mobilize and channel grants from external sources to finance technical assistance and components of investment projects. They play an important role in complementing ADB's own grant resources. So far, bilateral, multilateral, and private sector partners have contributed about $3.0 billion in grants to ADB operations. Initially, trust funds were established through single-donor channel financing agreements targeting numbers of specific sectors. Over time, ADB has been increasingly switching to multidonor trust funds covering thematic issues. A more recent development is the establishment of trust funds under theme-focused umbrella initiatives called financing partnership facilities, which support priority areas in ADB Strategy 2020, such as water, clean energy, regional cooperation and integration, and urban sector financing.

Switzerland has contributed to the following trust funds:

Single-Donor Trust Fund

- Channel Financing Agreements with the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation – established in 1980, 1984, and 1988 for agriculture support, vocational education, energy, feeder roads, health services, and water supply projects in all developing member countries

Cumulative commitment: SFr27.0 million

- Agreement Establishing the Swiss Cooperation Fund for Consulting Services – established in 1998 for infrastructure, private sector investment, transfer of environmentally sound technologies, and financial sector adjustment operations projects in Azerbaijan, the People's Republic of China, India, Indonesia, the Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan, and Viet Nam

Cumulative commitment: $2.59 million

Multidonor Trust Fund

- Asia Pacific Carbon Fund – established in 2006

Cumulative commitment: $25.0 million

Share of ADB's Procurement Contracts

Each year, ADB provides loans to fund projects and activities in its Asian and Pacific developing members and several billion US dollars' worth of contracts to procure goods and consulting services.

Procurement contracts for goods and works, and consulting services under loan and technical assistance operations totaled $7.52 billion in 2008 and $10.74 billion in 2009. Cumulative procurement as of 31 December 2009 was $103.19 billion. Most contracts were awarded on the basis of international competition, which is open to firms and individuals from any ADB member country, regional or nonregional.
